Second Series

Theme

Innovation driving healthcare delivery

Summary

COVID-19 has evocatively revealed fundamental truths, illustrating just how vulnerable healthcare systems are, with era-defining strains on capacity and delivery. Most health systems cannot keep up with the demand, stretching operational limits, creating shortages of nearly everything: masks, gloves, ventilators, ICU beds etc.

Panel discussion

In this session, panel members will unpack hurdles that slow down innovation and solutions that are currently disrupting healthcare delivery.

Discussions will focus on how;

Homebased care; Telehealth; Diagnostics; Data; the Regulatory environment, are driving healthcare delivery to meet the needs of the 'health citizen'.

1. Reflection on the digital health ecosystem: putting 'the health citizen' first
2. What are the challenges & opportunities?
3. How will innovation impact the shortage of health workers?
4. How do we manage data in future? How will the 'health citizen' respond to the protection of information?

Series Facilitator

Ms Precious Matsoso; co-chair. Technical group World Health Organisation & Former DG of Health South Africa
